City Panel Plans For Decorations

Committee Makes Tentative Setup

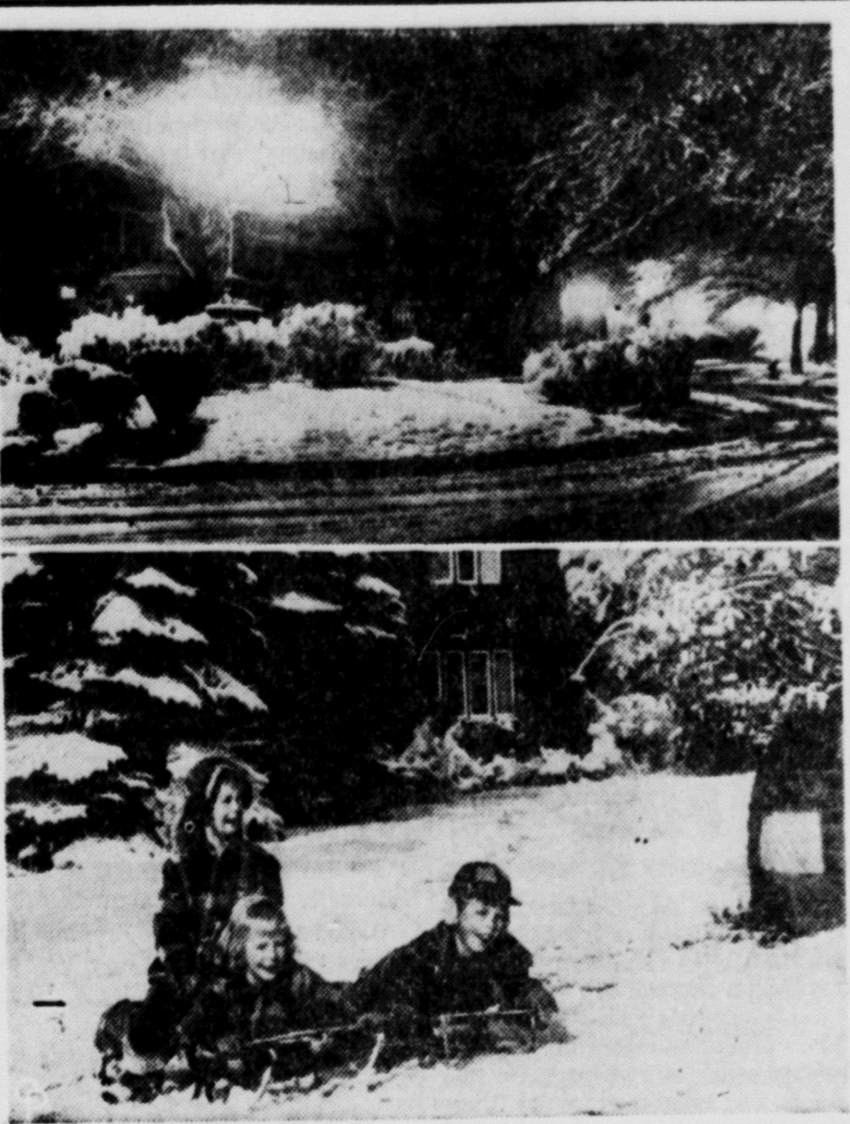

Cleveland's Christmas program this year is expected to have a religious flavor.

Tentative plans for the 1951 Christmas holiday decorations and program were formulated Monday night during a meeting of a committee set up by request of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

Plans include merchants' decorations, decoration of Court and Main streets intersection and a religious program leading up to Christmas Day.

Monty Lambert, member of the special committee, said each downtown business house will be supplied with a Christmas tree mounted on a pole this year, along with a set of tree lights.

Actual decoration of the trees will be left to the discretion of the merchant, who also will have to provide a means of getting electricity to the tree for the lights.

HEAVY WHITE BLANKETS cover many cities following the series of freak wintry storms that swept the nation. In Buffalo, more than four inches of snow fell and (top) the city's University Circle takes on a lovely Christmas look as the lights come on. At bottom, in Pittsburgh, children think storm swell, go sledding.

'SOCIALISM' TO CONTINUE?

Churchill Tells Program Planned By Conservatives

LONDON, Nov. 6—Britain's new Conservative government pledged today a "supreme effort" to save world peace.

The speech, written by Prime Minister Winston Churchill for ailing King George and read to parliament by Lord Chancellor Simonds, also promised "drastic action" to relieve Britain's economic crisis and a firm policy in troubled Egypt and Iran.

But several of the new prime minister's campaign pledges were not mentioned in the 1,100-word speech, giving rise to the belief that Churchill will avoid some political battles while trying to deal with problems of world peace and economic hardship.

Churchill failed to propose the reversal of any nationalization steps taken by the Labor government except that of the iron and steel industry. Even there, he proposed "an adequate measure of public supervision."

1833 Tax Deal To Be Studied By High Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear more arguments on whether the state of Georgia has a right to renege on a tax promise made 118 years ago.

The high tribunal scheduled a new hearing on the plea of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Co. for an injunction to keep the state from boosting its taxes in violation of its 1833 charter.

The charter granted the company by the Georgia legislature provided that the state would never take more than one half per cent of its net proceeds in taxes.

Thwarted in repeated court attempts to upset the charter, the state adopted a constitutional amendment in 1945 abolishing all tax exemptions granted in corporate charters. The company claimed this violated the U. S. Constitution, but a federal court held the firm had no legal right to challenge the state's sovereignty on the issue.

'Ike' Has Date To Talk To Duff About Politics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Gen. Eisenhower said today just before leaving for France that he has a date in Paris next month with Sen. Duff, (R) Pa., a leader in the "Ike-for-President" movement.

The Atlantic pact commander, at an airport news conference, also said he has never told President Truman when he would like to be relieved of his European command other than to express hope that it would "not be too long."

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman declared that a threat to European economic stabilization and recovery was one of the top problems he discussed with Eisenhower.

The chief executive said that Congress' failure to give him full defense stabilization powers and enough money to meet the present world crisis are retarding Europe's ability to complete its defense structure speedily.

Eisenhower, who previously had made a "no politics" — just now — pronouncement, told newsmen he had talked by telephone with Duff and invited the senator to call at headquarters in Paris next month.

Duff has said that during his Paris visit he will attempt to obtain "Ike's" consent to accept a draft for the Republican presidential nomination.

Egyptian Leader Said Talking To Russian Chiefs

CAIRO, Nov. 6—A Cairo newspaper said today that a "high Egyptian personality" has gone to Russia on a "secret important mission."

The newspaper Al Nida said the Egyptian diplomat sent to the Kremlin has made contacts with top Soviet officials with important results, as yet undisclosed.

The paper added also that a report from the Egyptian legation in Moscow dealt with what it described as "matters of paramount importance bringing joy to the hearts of Egyptians."

Diplomatic observers attached some importance to the report.

While some papers hinted at more far-reaching Soviet-Egyptian agreements, the newspaper Al Ahram said that "important exchanges" between the two governments are taking place in Cairo with the likelihood that trade would be expanded.

At the same time, Ahmed Hussein, leader of the National Socialist Party, put pressure on the government from still another direction when urged the ruling Wafdists to continue the struggle for "liberation" or be "swept away" by the people.

Bookie Wants Permit Fee Back

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6—Only one man paid up $50 in Newark for a gambler's tax stamp. Now he wants his money back.

Collector of Internal Revenue John E. Manning said the man, an unemployed truck driver, thought the money would license him to be a bookie in his brother's grocery store.

Manning said that if the applicant is found to have no police gambling record he'll get his money back.

Lighter-Than-Usual Vote Being Expected In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—A lighter-than-usual turnout was expected at the polls today as Ohioans bucked nasty weather to cast their ballots on local issues and a single statewide constitutional amendment.

Highlight of the off-year election was the Third Congressional District, which will elect a new congressman to succeed Walter Breen, the former Democratic mayor of Dayton, who resigned from Congress because of ill health.

Elsewhere, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus and other cities elect mayors, city councils, other local officers, and ballot on local issues.

The lone statewide issue has immediate direct effect on only the metropolitan areas. It is a proposed constitutional amendment to permit more than one probate judge in a county.

In the third district, State Rep. Jesse Yoder, Dayton Democrat, and Republican Paul F. Schenck, who lost to Breen last year, will battle it out for Breen's seat.

Clew To '52 Is Sought

Many Small Races Could Set Trend

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Observers are watching a host of off-year elections today for a clew to a national trend in 1952.

Two gubernatorial, four congressional seats and numerous municipal offices are at stake.

In Ohio's third congressional district, Paul F. Schenck, Republican, is battling Jesse Yoder, Democrat, in what may be the closest of the four House contests.

Two elections are being held in Pennsylvania. Republican Karl C. King is unopposed in the eighth district and Republican Joseph Carri is favored over Democrat Paul Harris in the fourteenth.

In New Jersey's ninth district, Frank C. Osmer, Republican, seems to have the edge over Miss Evelyn Seufert, Democrat.

Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, Democrat, in Kentucky, is a heavy favorite to be reelected. Another Democrat, Ex-Gov. Hugh White, has no GOP opposition in Mississippi's gubernatorial race.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN 40 CITIES are attracting the heaviest regional interest.

Philadelphia, one of the bed rock Republican strongholds of the nation, was expected by veteran political observers to go Democratic for the first time in a mayoralty election in 67 years.

The Democrats, whose platform has been a "clean sweep" of City Hall, are banking on their standard bearers Joseph S. Clark Jr. for mayor, and Richardson Dilworth, to district attorney, to carry the rest of their slate.

Against them, the Republicans have pinned their hopes on the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, a renowned Baptist minister, who has promised to reorganize the city's GOP organization which has been rocked by scandals in recent years.

Vogeler Urges Aid For Yanks

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—Robert A. Vogeler, American business executive imprisoned 17 months in Communist Hungary on charges of spying, contends that unless the U. S. can protect American citizens abroad "we should not let them travel."

Vogeler made his statement to newsmen here yesterday in answer to questions about Newsmen William Oatis, now serving a sentence in Hungary on "faked charges of spying."

"I think we should do everything we can to get him out," Vogeler said, adding "that we have already established a precedent in my case."

Phillips Trial Now In Recess

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—An Election Day recess was called today for the trial of George Phillips, 23-year-old Columbus insurance salesman charged with the fatal beating April 25 of Mrs. Ruth K. Alter.

The trial will be resumed at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow with rebuttal witnesses offered by Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett.

A long line of defense witnesses paraded to the stand at yesterday's session and testified that the one-armed Phillips had a reputation as a law-abiding citizen.

City Precincts All Lag At Noon

Interest in Cleveland's 1951 political issues appeared very slack at noon Tuesday with about half of the day-long voting period completed.

If early tabulations can be used as an indication, this year's balloting will be the lightest of the last several years.

A spot check of the 13 voting precincts in Cleveland and the voting place for Cleveland Township at noon Tuesday showed only 627 ballots had been cast. There are an estimated 4,000 eligible voters in Cleveland.

This figure is unusually low even for an "off-year" election, only about half of the 1,006 ballots counted at noon of election day in 1949, another off-year.

Largest vote of any precinct up until noon Tuesday was reported by Precinct A of the first ward, which was visited by 73 voters.

AND SMALLEST OF THE PERIOD

was 19, recorded at noon by Precinct D of the fourth ward. The same precinct was lowest at noon on election day last year, but even so it then had 44 ballots cast.

One reason for the slack vote recorded early Tuesday was foul weather, along with the prospect of only two or three "hot" issues facing the voters.

Prime among the contests in the city is the race for mayor, featuring Incumbent Thurman I. Miller and Challenger Ed Amey.

Reds Want Quick Settlement On Buffer Issue

MUNSAN, Nov. 6—Red delegates to the Korea armistice talks indicated today they want immediate settlement of the buffer zone issue so that their decimated forces may be spared further punishment at the hands of the Allies.

In rejecting a United Nations proposal to defer a decision on the knotty question until all other armistice problems have been solved the Communists hinted they desire an informal cease-fire while the truce negotiations are still in progress.

The Allies however stood firm on a previous agreement that the fighting must continue until a total armistice is concluded.

There were indications, however, that the Reds might reconsider their negative stand on the UN plan to put off a final delineation of the buffer belt.

This called for establishment of a two-and-a-half-mile wide demilitarized belt across Korea as it would exist at the time all other armistice conference agenda items are negotiated.

Newsman Throw No More Rocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Wherever Americans work their sense of humor goes with them.

Newsman and photographers in Korea have given up throwing rocks at one another while waiting for cease-fire developments.

Instead, one correspondent said: "They are getting up in the morning to raise the Confederate flag for Brownlow."

War Correspondent Cecil Brownlow worked in the Atlanta bureau of International News Service before his transfer to Korea.

Gambler List Open To Public

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6—Cleveland's "honor roll" of bookies goes on display today in the office of the local revenue collector.

A file of the names of bookies, who have purchased the government's new $50 bookmaking license, has been set up and now is public record. Any citizen may come and gape at the list.

U.S. delegation sources also quickly indicated that there is no present change in President Truman's stand. He has said repeatedly that if Soviet Premier Stalin wants to see him the Soviet leader should go to Washington.

Auriol's indirect invitation to President Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill was that they meet privately with French Premier Rene Pleven and establish "human contacts" in an attempt to solve East-West crises.

Stalin previously has rejected bids to travel outside the Iron Curtain lands, giving "health reasons."

President Truman has taken the stand that any meeting he has with Stalin should occur in Washington. Churchill undoubtedly would travel to any capital in another attempt to solve East-West problems.

Padilla Nervo, in an obvious reference to Communist lands, denounced oppression and asked delegates to remember the sacrifices of UN troops fighting and dying in Korea.

Atom Scientists Head For Lab To Evaluate Data

LAS VEGAS, Nov. 6—America's top atomic scientists headed back to their Los Alamos laboratories today to incorporate the findings of their Nevada test site experiments into the new atomic weapons they are fashioning for the nation.

Heading the exodus was Carroll Tyler, test manager, who announced that yesterday's blast concluded the first phase of the current series, a phase that "had been devoted primarily to developmental tests to advance the weapons work of our Alamos scientific laboratories."

However, Tyler and the other scientists will return to Frenchman's Flat, scene of the detonations, after a "lapse of several days" for the second phase of the series.

They plan to see how planes, tanks, guns and other war equipment stand up under blasting by the AEC's new tactical A-weapons. The findings are to be studied with a view to producing equipment designed for the era of atomic warfare.

Yesterday's blast, the fifth in the series, was set off at 11:30 a. m. EST. The nuclear weapon was dropped from a B-29. It was the first detonation in full daylight. The four earlier ones had occurred around dawn.

Committee Makes Tentative Setup

Circleville's Christmas program this year is expected to have a religious flavor. Tentative plans for the 1951 Christmas holiday decorations and program were formulated Monday night during a meeting of a committee set up by request of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce.

Plans include merchants' decorations, decoration of Court and Main streets intersection and a religious program leading up to Christmas Day.

Actual decoration of the trees will be left to the discretion of the merchant, who also will have to provide a means of getting electricity to the tree for the lights.

A FEATURE of this year's decoration program as tentatively planned will be a community Christmas tree in front of Pickaway Courthouse. A star is to be atop the tree.

Also in front of the courthouse is to be a religious scene, depicting some phase of the birth of Christ. In addition, it is planned to have a choir sing Christmas carols in the downtown district Friday and Saturday before Christmas, with a finale scheduled for Sunday evening.

Tentative plans for the Sunday program call for several choirs to be on hand for religious music and carols, Christmas themes to be played on the courthouse chimes, community singing and a visit by Santa Claus for the youngsters.

Santa will bring with him a bundle of goodies to be handed out to the smaller kiddies during the evening.

On Monday, the day before Christmas, no special program has been arranged by the committee. Stores of the city are expected to remain open only until 5 p. m. Christmas eve.

Final decision for the decoration of the Court-Main intersection is to be made during a later meeting of the committee, although it was announced that several of the plastic decorations purchased several

Also on the ticket for voters here are two tax levies, one for the city and one for the city schools, and the question of whether a city charter should be formed here.

But none of the issues contains the spark which sent 1,289 voters to the polls at noon of election day last year. Final vote for last year in the city was 3,425.

Last year's interest was due to the interest in the fate of Sen. Robert Taft, the $475,000 city school bond issue, congressional races, county representative race, city tax levy and county office contests.

BUT THIS YEAR, the voters in Circleville apparently have decided the few issues facing them were too minor to worry with.

Free taxi service to the polls and offers of free baby-sitting to vote-minded mothers even failed to produce results.

In fact at 1 p. m. Tuesday, more than six hours after the polls were opened, Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce officials were disappointed to announce that not a single person had called to request free taxi or baby sitting.

From all these early indications, this year's election count should be done speedily Tuesday night with probably a new low vote for the last decade.

A complete list of the number of votes reported, at noon Tuesday from the Circleville precincts and Circleville Township is as follows:

Ward One, Precinct A, 73; B, 49; C, 67; D, 21; E, 37.

Ward Two, Precinct A, 61; B, 49.

Ward Three, Precinct A, 57; B, 64.

However, Tyler and the other scientists will return to Frenchman's Flat, scene of the detonations, after a "lapse of several days" for the second phase of the series.

They plan to see how planes, tanks, guns and other war equipment stand up under blasting by the AEC's new tactical A-weapons. The findings are to be studied with a view to producing equipment designed for the era of atomic warfare.

Yesterday's blast, the fifth in the series, was set off at 11:30 a. m. EST. The nuclear weapon was dropped from a B-29. It was the first detonation in full daylight. The four earlier ones had occurred around dawn.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

This is a good time for us parents and teachers to help our children see how precious is the freedom we have to vote. We might well talk the matter over with them somewhat as follows:

In our country and other Democratic countries of the world, there are at least two political parties. Each party nominates a person for each office, according to certain rules.

While there can be many political parties and therefore many nominees for each office, there usually are only two parties in this country. As a rule, there also is a place on a ballot in which a person may write another name not already printed on this ballot. The voters can always choose from among two or more nominees for each office.

But if your parents, and brothers and sisters old enough to vote, lived in Russia or any other country over which Russia rules, they would not have this freedom of choice. For the people there have learned by experience that they will be punished if they attempt to vote into office any official who does not have the approval of the Communist Party.

IN NOVEMBER of each year, or at certain other times, there is an election of certain officers or representatives throughout the United States. Every citizen has the opportunity to vote by choosing from among two or more persons for each office, or by writing in another name he prefers.

Long before the election he may do or say or write almost anything he chooses in order to persuade other citizens to vote for the candidate he prefers. But in Russia and her satellites, there is no freedom of speech, press, radio or television. Nobody is allowed to say a word against the candidate of the Communist party, the only party, which really is the government.

Although anybody here in the United States may say or write anything he pleases about any political party or candidate, many of our citizens don't take the trouble to vote on election day.

They don't exercise the privilege they have in our democracy—to take part in electing the persons who are to be our public officials. If they lived through one election in a nation where they had a few or none of our many freedoms, they hardly would fail once again to vote. They would be so proud of their country and its freedoms that they would prove they appreciate these freedoms.

When you become old enough to vote, the United States of America will, no doubt, be so precious to you that you will never miss the opportunity to vote on Election Day.

So might we tell our children of the joys of democracy, for, as you know, they are the voters of tomorrow.

Answering Parents' Questions
Q. I teach a class of girls aged eight to ten in a Sunday school. Most of them insist on talking while I talk to them about the lesson.

A. You might find ways to talk less, in fewer sentences at a stretch, and get each of them in turn to talk more. When one of them is talking briefly, expect the rest to be quiet. Refuse to talk yourself while two or more are conversing. Better to break up the class into several short periods with some interesting activity between, than to go on as at present.

Street Revision To Cost County An Added $613

Pickaway County commissioners learned Monday that their resolution revising specifications for the expansion of South Washington street will cost them about $613.

Engineer Henry T. McCrady Monday told the commissioners the new specifications will call for an $870 addition to the original contract, less $257 for a piece of work eliminated by the proposal.

Last week, the commissioners agreed to increase the elevation of the proposed new road by two feet and to provide construction of a new driveway.

Cost of the project was set by the contractor at the $870 increase, although the move eliminated the need for $257 worth of excavation work originally planned.

The new extension, linking South Washington street with Route 23, is now underway by the C. F. Replogle Construction Co.

Bypass Roadway Given Go-Ahead By Commission

Pickaway County commissioners Monday passed a resolution for the county engineer to prepare plans and estimates for construction of a new bypass roadway just south of Lockbourne Air Force Base.

The commissioners last week resolved to vacate portions of Wright Road (95) and the Circleville-Lockbourne Road (31) due to the expansion of the air base.

Construction of the new bypass, linking the two roadways at their severed ends, is to be subsidized by the government. The government has guaranteed about $50,000 for the project, if needed.

After instructing Engineer Henry T. McCrady to make the necessary plans, specifications and estimates for the new roadway, the commissioners said they will have a public hearing on the proposal next Monday. All persons objecting to the proposal are to be heard during the session.

Street Revision To Cost County An Added $613

Pickaway County commissioners learned Monday that their resolution revising specifications for the expansion of South Washington street will cost them about $613.

Engineer Henry T. McCrady Monday told the commissioners the new specifications will call for an $570 addition to the original contract, less $257 for a piece of work eliminated by the proposal.

Last week, the commissioners agreed to increase the elevation of the proposed new road by two feet and to provide construction of a new driveway.

Cost of the project was set by the contractor at the $870 increase, although the move eliminated the need for $257 worth of excavation work originally planned.

The new extension, linking South Washington street with Route 23, is now underway by the C. F. Replogle Construction Co.

'I NOMINATE' General Eisenhower

(Editor's Note: This is the second of four articles by politically prominent and active Republican and Democratic members of Congress presenting the cases for the men they believe should be elected President of the United States next year.)

By SEN. FRANK CARLSON
Republican of Kansas

I am for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for President of the United States because I believe in the American people and have faith in America's future.

The American people, when they make up their minds, are almost always right. And they have made up their minds about General Eisenhower. They are for him.

I believe that America's future can be one of peace, of greater freedom and of unequalled opportunity. That is what the American people want it to be. I think they are right in believing that, with General Eisenhower as President, their chance for such a future, for themselves and for their children, will be greatly strengthened.

Since the end of the second world war, the threats to our peace have become continually menacing. Today, every day, American boys from American homes are being killed in Korea. No one knows what greater tragedy tomorrow may bring forth.

IN THE MIDST of these increasing dangers, the American people, increasingly have turned to General Eisenhower. There is good reason for this.

The American people know that, if we are to have peace, we must have an America that is strong without being belligerent; that we must have a foreign policy that is first of all for America without being isolationist; that we must have strong allies whose strength is increasingly the product of their own efforts and determination. Isn't it proof of the soundness of the judgment of the American people that, to do that job, on which their peace depends, they, overwhelmingly, turn to General Eisenhower?

Better, perhaps than any man alive he knows the horror of war. He knows what is required if we are to have peace. Today, it is largely because of his understanding and leadership that the free world is gaining in strength, and the likelihood of a third war diminishing.

The American people are right in their conviction that, as President of the United States, he can finish that job.

They are right, also, in their conviction that American strength must be more than military and material. They want to see integrity returned to government—knowing that our present moral depression in public affairs may be far more disastrous than an economic depression.

While we are helping to preserve freedom elsewhere in the world, they want to see it strengthened here at home against the encroachment of a power-hungry democracy and against the wastefulness of a regime which, like the grasshoppers of Pharaoh's time, are eating up the land.

IN SHORT, the American people want an all-out Washington overhauling and a clean start.

They are right when they believe that the way to get that, the only way to get it, is to elect as President a man who is beholden to no special economic interest or class, who does not put partisanship above patriotism, whose consuming ambition is not, at whatever price, to be president. They are right in wanting a man whose only reason for being President is to serve America and to do, for the American people, the job they want done and which their future requires.

(Tomorrow — House Majority Leader Rep. John McCormack presents the case for reelection of President Truman.)

Sheriff Says KKK Should Not Attend Church

CONWAY, S. C., Nov. 6—Sheriff C. E. Sasser believes a deacon of the Cane Branch Baptist church here "had no right to invite members of the Ku Klux Klan to church."

The sheriff spoke in defending his deputies against whom warrants have been brought because they arrested Klansmen at the church.

Sasser said three women came to his office to inform him last week that members of the Klan planned to attend church.

Fourteen persons, dressed in KKK regalia, were arrested near the church. Two others were arrested the next day.

A. L. Tyler, a deacon of the church, swore out warrants for the six arresting deputies, charging them with unlawful arrests on church property, using obscene or profane language and breaking up a religious service.

The arrested men were charged with violation of the anti-mask law passed by the general assembly this year. The law prohibits wearing of masks on public property.

$31 Million Cost Of Farm Support

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The government's price support agency paid out $31,252,000 in the first three months of the current fiscal year, mostly on eggs, peanuts, wheat and grain sorghums.

The Agriculture Department says this Commodity Credit Corp. figure covers the period from July through September.

Price support operations in three commodities accounted for the bulk of the total. They were wheat, tobacco and corn, with upland cotton trailing a poor fourth.

Husband-Killer To Get Review

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Yvette Madsen, who is serving a 15-year sentence for the murder of her Air Force husband in Germany, has won a hearing before the Supreme Court.

The high tribunal agreed to review her plea that a U. S. military government court had no authority to try her for the Oct. 20, 1949 shooting in the American occupation zone.

She was convicted by the three-judge occupation court for the fatal shooting of her husband, Lt. Andrew E. Madsen, after he made fun of her Brooklyn accent at a party.

Keep Bossy's Bed Nice, Is Expert's Advice

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—Bossy's bed costs $15 to $20 per season, but it's cheap insurance against mastitis.

Ralph Porterfield, extension specialist in dairy husbandry at Ohio State university, said mastitis is one of the chief causes of turn-over in dairy herds. Protecting cows from cold, rainy weather, and from exposure to drafts, and keeping udders off concrete floors combine to form a major step in controlling the disease.

Porterfield quoted Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station figures that show it takes at least a ton of bedding per cow in a stanchion barn during the barn-feeding period.

iod. Cows in pen-type barns will need twice as much bedding.

Bedding costs $15 to $20 per ton. "It is cheap at that," Porterfield said, "if it keeps udders off cold concrete and helps prevent and control mastitis."

He emphasized that with winter weather coming on, it is time to start keeping cows in the barn over night—and to provide them with enough bedding.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Yvette Madsen, who is serving a 15-year sentence for the murder of her Air Force husband in Germany, has won a hearing before the Supreme Court.

The high tribunal agreed to review her plea that a U. S. military government court had no authority to try her for the Oct. 20, 1949 shooting in the American occupation zone.

She was convicted by the three-judge occupation court for the fatal shooting of her husband, Lt. Andrew E. Madsen, after he made fun of her Brooklyn accent at a party.

CITIZEN AND GOVERNMENT

TWO worrisome developments in national government today are lagging E-bond sales and possible consequences upon the taxpayer of disclosures of irregularities and favoritism in the income tax collection department. Both touch upon the deteriorating relationship of the citizen to his government.

The first nine months of this year E-bond sales totaled $2.3 billion compared to $2.8 billion in the first nine months of 1950. Redemptions in both years exceeded new purchases, despite special efforts of the Treasury to push the bonds in national campaigns.

Letters received by the Treasury, members of Congress and others reveal that spending of the federal government, much of it for no necessary purposes, and are bowing out of the E-bond program until some measure of economy is achieved.

Disclosures of income tax fixes, to the financial enrichment of collectors, it is feared in Washington, may direct the mind of many a taxpayer to the problem of how they, too, can evade some of their increasing tax obligations. If such a psychology is ever established in the minds of a sizeable segment of taxpayers, the Washington spenders will find their style cramped.

Such a psychology has been established for a long time in some of the older countries where tax evasion has become a fine art.

The answer to both these problems is, of course, better government. Washington ought to cut off the waste to the point where the citizen believes he is getting his dollar's worth as nearly as a government can ever give it. And it should deal harshly with the grafters and influence peddlers.

It cost $36,000 for Columbus to discover America. Eventually it may turn out to have been a good investment.

Trouble with history is that it is repeating the bad eras of the human record instead of the good ones.

Stalin has wished the Korean reds success in their struggle for freedom from freedom.

The influence of the atom is powerful. It was split and the whole world has been split ever since.

These Days

Admiral Charles Maynard Cooke was in charge of the USS Pennsylvania at Pearl Harbor; he had been chief of staff to Admiral King during World War II. He was in command of the Seventh Fleet from 1946 to 1948. He was in command of all American combat forces in China after General Wedemeyer left that country.

In view of this record, the McCarran committee therefore summoned him to come to Washington from Formosa where he is now engaged in a commercial enterprise, having retired from the Navy.

In his testimony before the McCarran committee, he filled in a number of gaps in our information concerning the American relations with China, which are now of tremendous importance to us because it is on account of our errors in that country that we are fighting in Korea with at least 100,000 casualties. The following is extremely pertinent:

"Senator Ferguson. Do you know anything about the supply of ammunition to the Nationalist troops?"

"Mr. Cooke. Yes. After (Wedemeyer) left, around the 1st of August, 1946, the supply was cut off.

"Senator Ferguson. Why?"

"Mr. Cooke. Well, I didn't do it, and I can't say why.

"Senator Ferguson. Did General Marshall ever discuss that with you?"

"Mr. Cooke. He discussed it in general without making too much comment except that he made the observation to me that we, meaning the United States, had armed the Chinese, and now we were disarming them. In other words, we had undertaken to equip 30-odd Chinese divisions, equip them with guns and things of that kind, and then we stopped the flow of ammunition and made a complete embargo, so we didn't supply it or wouldn't let them buy it for a period of about ten months, I believe. He just made that observation to me, that is all. He wasn't called on to do it, but he did do it.

"Senator Ferguson. It amounted to disarming them because they were not getting the ammunition for the weapon we had supplied them?"

"Mr. Cooke. That is right.

"Senator Ferguson. What effect would the arming of the Nationalists have had as far as the Communists were concerned?"

"Mr. Cooke. Of course, the Communists were being very well supplied in Manchuria by the Russians from arsenals and from captured Japanese guns and ammunition. We were practically certain that was going on, and of course in our white paper reported from our diplomatic representatives in Moscow that it was going on.

"Senator Ferguson. And General Marshall had told you that of course that amounted to the disarming of the Nationalists?"

"Mr. Cooke. Yes."

This Chinese Communist army was built up, while the Nationalists were disarmed, and now we are fighting the Chinese Communists in Korea. And for a number of years, our State Department issued propaganda to the effect that the Chinese Communists were buying American arms from corrupt Nationalists.

The State Department has also made many statements of sending supplies to Chiang Kai-shek which were wasted. I have from time to time stated that there was an embargo against the Nationalists while the Communists were being supplied. Here is Admiral Cooke's sworn testimony on the subject:

MARCH OF EVENTS

President to Request $5 Billion Tax Boost

U. S. Plane Building Lags By Nine Months

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—President Truman will ask Congress for at least an additional $5 billion in taxes when it reconvenes in January. In fact, he may ask for substantially more than this sum, depending on the size of the new budget. The President has maintained that taxes must be raised to balance the budget during the rearmament period.

It is highly doubtful, however, that Congress will pass another tax-boost bill. There are three main reasons for this:

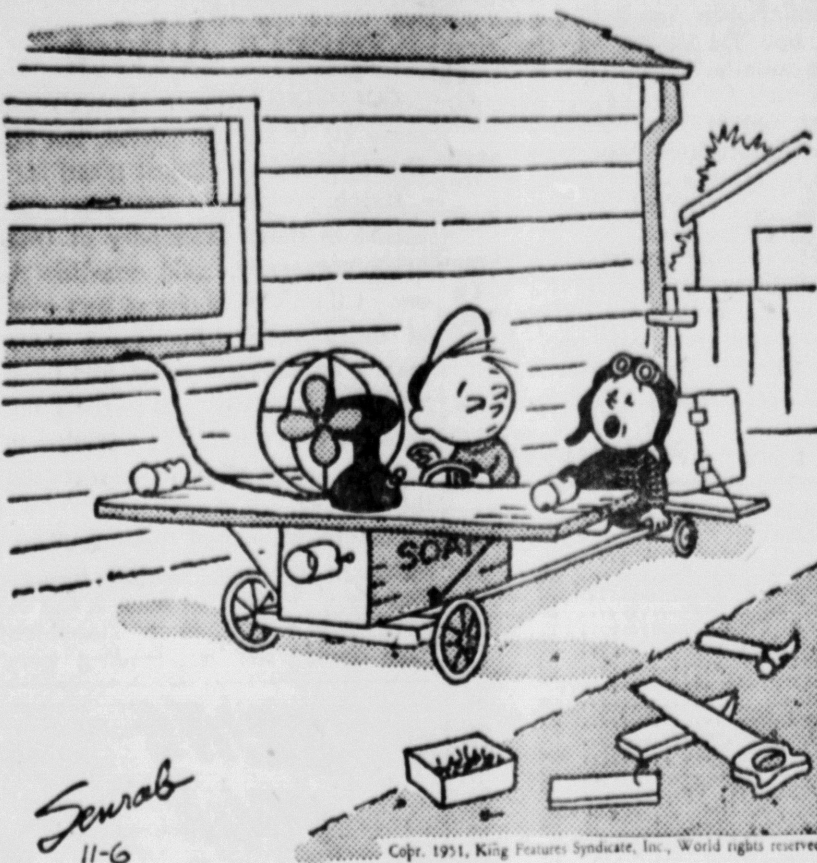

Numerous indications are that people are becoming more tax conscious. With prices at an all-time high, the tax take adds irritation to the average citizen's indignation over the high cost of living. It all points to greater tax resistance.

Chairman Walter F. George (D), Georgia, of the Senate finance committee, has said he will not sponsor another tax increase bill unless there is an all-out war. George is by far the most powerful figure in the government so far as tax legislation is concerned. Moreover, he means what he says. To get a tax bill through the Senate over his opposition would require a small-scale rebellion among the membership.

There is no such rebellion in sight. The fact that 1952 is an election year will cause even the most ardent legislator to pause before fighting for higher taxes, particularly when he has to brace up to a man like George.

DIET AND HEALTH

A Great Hazard Of Pregnancy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AT one time, the toxemia of pregnancy claimed the lives of a large number of mothers and infants. Since prenatal care for expectant mothers has become almost universal, the number of women suffering from this complication has been much reduced, due to the fact that any tendency toward toxemia can be detected at the outset and precautions taken against it.

A woman expecting a baby should see her physician at least once a month, at which time her blood pressure, urine, and weight are carefully checked. Some indications of beginning toxemia are excessive weight gain, elevation of the blood pressure, and the appearance of albumin in the urine. A woman who has any of these symptoms should be carefully watched and treated so that a severe toxemia does not develop.

Low-Salt Diet

Usually, the use of a low-salt or sodium diet, sedative drugs and bed rest are helpful in these early cases. Many times, when toxemia has progressed too far, the use of large amounts of sedative drugs may be necessary and, in severe cases, the early delivery of the baby may be required.

Most physicians wish to prolong pregnancy as long as possible in order to give the baby a better chance for life.

Cortisone Used

A group of eight pregnant women gravely ill with toxemia, having high blood pressure, albumin in the urine and swelling of the body, were treated with cortisone to see if the toxemia could be somewhat relieved and the pregnancy carried nearer to the time it normally would be due. Three of these women were so severely ill that they had convulsions and seizures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. K.: Is there anything which might stop excessive falling of the hair, and relieve itching of the scalp?

Answer: Falling hair may be due to your general condition, since such things as anemia and poor digestion are sometimes responsible.

If the hair is dry and brittle, it may be well to use an ointment of sulphur in petrolatum. This should be rubbed on the hair and into the scalp at night, once a week, leaving it on until the next morning, when the hair should be washed with castile soap and warm water. The hair should not be washed more than once a week. Massaging the scalp sometimes helps.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

"DO YOU know the Ragdales?" Mollie asked Peter when he sid into the booth. "Now, that's a silly question! I withdraw it. I've seen you with them before this."

"I expect so—we've double-dated. There's a girl in the diet department I go around with a little, and I've taken her out with them."

"Is she a nice girl?"

"Janie? Very nice—cute. Ragdale didn't take to her. But that makes us even. I don't take to his woman."

Was that the reason for the malevolent look with which Laz Ragdale had watched Peter join Mollie?

"I thought you liked everyone," Mollie said idly.

"Oh, no! Only people who like me. Did you order?"

"I told the waiter to come back, that you'd probably want food. This is your dinner relief, isn't it?"

"That's right. Won't you..."

"I have an evening engagement. I won't eat now. I ordered a drink."

"Good." He told the waiter his needs, and leaned toward Mollie. "I said I had something to ask you. It's about a case I have on Men's Surgical—chap named Joe Mayer. Know him?"

"Should I?"

"He's a medic. A rather small man, slight, hair getting thin. Not healthy-looking because he has a history of malaria contracted while he was in service overseas."

Mollie's eyes widened, and Peter's bright head nodded up and down. "Yes! He's been advised not to stay in medicine, and the school allows him to stay only because he was a student when he went into service, and the school's policy is to readmit all such students..."

"And in the Group," said Mollie dryly, "a policy is a policy, no matter what."

"Yes, and that's a good thing sometimes. But—well, anyway, this Mayer was laid low and suddenly with a severe abdominal pain. His hazel eyes glinted. 'No, I didn't order an A.Z. I knew he had appendicitis just like that!' His fingers snapped. 'It was one of those easy diagnosis things. No variation. But I hesitated to order an operation because of the malaria.' He glanced up at Mollie, who nodded slightly. 'I spoke to Dr. Cowan about it.'"

"You did?" Mollie was surprised and sounded so.

"Well, I know he's bones, but I happened to meet him in the hall right outside the room we'd put Mayer into—and I just had to talk to somebody. That was when I wasn't so aware of what a queer duck Cowan is."

"Oh, now wait a minute," said Mollie. "I'm going to take a little time right now for that queer duck business."

"He is queer..."

"Different."

"I know a genius can be..."

"The genius is only part of it. Did you know that he is also a very rich man? And I mean very rich. Millions."

"I knew there was money—"

"His sort of money means that he doesn't even need to clip his own coupons."

"Well—"

"His money hasn't any significance except that it is unusual for such a rich man to be possessed of the patience, the interest, the personal integrity it takes to do medical research. I know you've had to read the history of such researchers, you've been taught something of the processes of research. The assembly of cases, the cross-filing, the frequent need to throw away years of work and start over—all of which means that men in research work very long and very hard for unsensational results."

"Cowan's had some sensational ones."

"Yes, he has had. But the work has been as hard for the ones that were failures. The desert between accomplishments has been wide and dry." She spoke earnestly, and Peter leaned back to watch her.

"You really like him, don't you?" he asked.

"Of course. Don't you?"

"I admire him tremendously. I couldn't ever be like him."

Mollie laughed, her intensity relaxing. "Please don't try to be," she urged. "Tell me about young Mayer. I think I have him placed, now."

"Well, we operated..."

"On Nicholas' advice?"

"No. He just told me to turn the case over to the Staff surgeon, and I did."

"Of course."

"It looks simple now," he agreed. "Though when the Staff surgeon operated—and he had to operate—Mayer's condition was dangerous."

"Is he all right now?"

"Yes. Only—"

"There are complications."

He smiled ruefully. And Peter's smile was devastating. Just that. "Oh, oh!" said Mollie. "That sort of complication! Is this your personality angle?"

"And now! I didn't talk about the case; I'm sure I didn't."

"Clara?" asked Mollie alertly. "What is she saying? No—wait. I can get an easy one like that. Mayer's one of the students at No. 7. Right? Then, Clara says you delayed matters because you didn't know it was appendicitis? Did you almost let him die?"

"I expect so, but I guess it doesn't make much difference. Maybe I shouldn't mind her story—but I do. My mother would say to 'know the truth,' and I do know it—but stories like that—a doctor's reputation is a part of his equipment."

"You're absolutely right. I don't know that this story can hurt you."

much, but Clara's talk can do harm; it's potentially dangerous."

"But why does she do it? I mean, why does she talk about me? I live in her house, yes, but so do the Ragdales—and she never gossips about them. I asked Ragdale, and he said she didn't. Besides, once I said something to her about a party they threw, and she pulled down her mouth and shut up like a clam." Mollie laughed at his approximation of Clara's primness. "She told me that she wouldn't talk about her tenants. I hadn't said much; I had a good time at their party. But it was quite a brawl, and you'd think that would give her more material for gossip than my small affairs—but maybe she likes them better."

"That isn't it. She doesn't like them at all, but they're exceedingly rude to her."

"Yes, I know..."

"And that's all of it. But you—She's actively angry at you because you wouldn't talk about her story she spread about me."

"Oh," said Peter.

"Get your check. You did jump her, didn't you?"

"Yes. Of course I did."

Mollie smiled, and held out her hand. "Thank you, Peter," she said earnestly.

He held her hand for a second, that smile again warming his face. "No need to thank me—I like you. If Clara's sore at me, it isn't a patch on what I feel about her."

He reclaimed their coats at the check stand, held Mollie's for her. "What am I going to do about Mrs. Wayne, short of strangling her? Should I ignore her? Or protest?"

"No, you'd better move."

"I've thought of that. Will that accomplish anything?"

"It won't silence her. She'll talk about your moving, about your reasons, and—"

Mollie giggled.

"What now?" asked Peter, following her to the street.

"I'll walk along with you to the hospital. I was just struck with a preview of Clara's talk if I should help you move."

"Help me?"

"I'd really like to, but Clara would have a field day!"

Peter bent over to look into Mollie's face. "You mean she'd talk about us?" He held up two fingers.

"And how she'll talk! Your mother wouldn't recognize her boy. And she wouldn't want to recognize me." She glanced up and laughed. "Are you actually blushing?"

"I'm just a country boy. But even so, I'd love to share a scandal with you, Doctor!"

Mollie laughed again, and indicated the lights at the Circle. "I'll cross here—I'll get in touch with you. Good night!"

"Good night—Mollie." He watched her face. She still smiled. "You're wonderful..." he said softly.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

When Ike got that summons home he didn't know whether to pack the plans for Europe's defenses or his own.

Some thought the President was calling him home because the princess and her duke had just left and Harry got a hanker to put up his own dukes.

But I hear before Ike left, Mamie said 'now don't let him talk you out of it!' And Ike said 'it's either that or let Dewey talk me into it.'

Ike appears to be the kind of fellow who wouldn't be talked out of anything if he knew what he didn't want to be talked out of.

Up until the weekend he had strong presidential support from one governor, some senators and one newspaper but the ground swell hadn't set in.

That doesn't mean that Ike isn't popular; it might mean he is so popular not many want to stick him with the nomination.

"He's a Medic. A rather small man, slight, hair getting thin. Not healthy-looking because he has a history of malaria contracted while he was in service overseas."

Mollie's eyes widened, and Peter's bright head nodded up and down. "Yes! He's been advised not to stay in medicine, and the school allows him to stay only because he was a student when he went into service, and the school's policy is to readmit all such students..."

"And in the Group," said Mollie dryly, "a policy is a policy, no matter what."

"Yes, and that's a good thing sometimes. But—well, anyway, this Mayer was laid low and suddenly with a severe abdominal pain. His hazel eyes glinted. 'No, I didn't order an AZ. I knew he had appendicitis just like that!'"

His fingers snapped. "It was one of those easy diagnosis things. No variation. But I hesitated, order an operation because of the malaria." He glanced up at Mollie, who nodded slightly. "I spoke to Dr. Cowan about it."

"You did?" Mollie was surprised and sounded so.

"Well, I know he's bones, but I happened to meet him in the hall right outside the room we'd put Mayer into—and I just had to talk to somebody. That was when I wasn't so aware of what a queer duck Cowan is."

"Oh, now wait a minute," said Mollie. "I'm going to take a little time right now for that queer duck business."

"You're absolutely right. I don't know that this story can hurt you much, but Clara's talk can do harm; it's potentially dangerous."

"But why does she do it? I mean, why does she talk about me? I live in her house, yes, but so do the Ragdolls—and she never gossips about them. I asked Ragdale, and he said she didn't. Besides, once I said something to her about a party they threw, and she pulled down her mouth and shut up like a clam." Mollie laughed at his approximation of Clara's primness. "She told me that she wouldn't talk about her tenants. I hadn't said much; I had a good time at their party. But it was quite a brawl, and you'd think that would give her more material for gossip than my small affairs—but maybe she likes them better."

"That isn't it. She doesn't like them at all, but they're exceedingly rude to her."

"Yes, I know..."

"And that's all of it. But you—she's actively angry at you because you called her down over the story she spread about me."

"Oh," said Peter. "Get your check. You did jump her, didn't you?"

"Yes. Of course I did."

Mollie smiled, and held out her hand. "Thank you, Peter," she said earnestly.

He held her hand for a second, then smiled again warningly at her. "No need to thank me—I like you. If Clara's sore at me, it isn't a patch on what I feel about her."

He reclaimed her coats at the check stand, held Mollie's for her. "What am I going to do about Mrs. Wayne, short of strangling her? Should I ignore her? Or protest?"

"No, you'd better move."

"I've thought of that. Will that accomplish anything?"

"It won't silence her. She'll talk about your moving, about your reasons, and—" Mollie giggled.

"What now?" asked Peter, following her to the street.

"I'll walk along with you to the hospital. I was just struck with a preview of Clara's talk if I should help you move."

"Help me?"

"I'd really like to, but Clara would have a field day!"

Peter bent over to look into Mollie's face. "You mean she'd talk about us?" He held up two fingers.

"And how she'll talk! Your mother wouldn't recognize her boy. And she wouldn't want to recognize me." She glanced up and laughed. "Are you actually blushing?"

"I'm just a country boy. But even so, I'd love to share a scandal with you, Doctor!"

Mollie laughed again, and indicated the lights at the Circle. "I'll cross here—I'll get in touch with you. Good night!"

"Good night—Mollie." He watched her face. She still smiled. "You're wonderful..." he said softly.

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS
President to Request $5 Billion Tax Boost U. S. Plane Building Lags By Nine Months

WASHINGTON—President Truman will ask Congress for at least an additional $5 billion in taxes when it reconvenes in January. In fact, he may ask for substantially more than this sum, depending on the size of the new budget. The President has maintained that taxes must be raised to balance the budget during the rearmament period.

It is highly doubtful, however, that Congress will pass another tax-bill. There are three main reasons for this: Numerous indications are that people are becoming more tax conscious. With prices at an all-time high, the tax take adds irritation to the average citizen's indignation over the high cost of living. It all points to greater tax resistance.

Chairman Walter F. George (D), Georgia, of the Senate finance committee, has said he will not sponsor another tax increase bill unless there is an all-out war. George is by far the most powerful figure in the government so far as tax legislation is concerned. Moreover, he means what he says. To get a tax bill through the Senate over his opposition would require a small-scale rebellion among the membership.

There is no such rebellion in sight. The fact that 1952 is an election year will cause even the most ardent legislator to pause before fighting for higher taxes, particularly when he has to brace up to a man like George.

PLANE LAG—Air Force officials admit that their vast plane-building program is more than nine months behind schedule, and that there is no prospect that it will make much progress toward catching up.

There are a number of reasons for this. But the basic trouble is that no warplane is now considered worthy unless it is jet-powered. This requires machine tools and materials far different from those used in World War II.

Actually, the Air Force is now accepting delivery of 400 planes a month, of which 10 to 20 per cent are without motors. The purpose is to release cash to the new budding aircraft industry. There are plenty of airframes, but not enough jet motors.

The Air Force has plenty of cash. The total is $20 billion, counting that carried over from the last fiscal year.

Jet motors require 27 different metals that are in scarce supply. A primary requisite is steel that will stand high temperatures.

JAP CONGRESS—All indications are that the United States-Japanese mutual security pact will face rather rough going in the Japanese Diet as contrasted with the comparatively calm attitude toward the San Francisco peace treaty.

The trouble, however, will be in the Lower House. This chamber is expected to approve the pact, but it may do so by a close margin. The pact undoubtedly will ride smoothly through the Upper House.

SOVIET AIR TACTICS—Pentagon airmen are giving close study to all reports of increased Communist air activity over Korea. This scrutiny is based on belief that the Red air force may be readying a major change in aerial strategy.

One school of thought is that the increased Communist activity is showing up because of their effort to gain air time and experience on old MIG-15 planes before switching to a new, speedy type.

Other United States officials think that the activity may prestage an entirely new aerial strategy concept—the use of airpower in a strategic sense.

This group believes that the Reds—not sure that they can hope to control the air as the western nations did in World War II—may be evolving a hit-and-run cavalry type of air attack.

Try, Stop Me

The first time four-year-old Mary was taken to church by her parents, she was absolutely fascinated by the earnest young minister, high in his pulpit, who was given to involved rhetoric and wild waving of his arms. Finally Mary whispered to her mother, "What will he do if he ever gets out?"

Morey Amsterdam says that when a woman driver sticks out her arms, you can be sure of only one thing: her window is open.

The ladies may not be able to help the way they drive, but they'll certainly reduce their middle-aged spread if they heed the words of Gaylor Hauser, author of "Look Younger, Live Longer." "Look French Pastry squarely in the eye," counsels Hauser. "Remind yourself, 'This will be a few seconds in my mouth, a few hours in my stomach—but a whole lifetime on my hips.'"

Up until the weekend he had strong presidential support from one governor, some senators and one newspaper but the ground swell hadn't set in.

That doesn't mean that Ike isn't popular; it might mean he is so popular not many want to stick him with the nomination.

Story Of Two Ohio Cities
Is Told By Speakers
At Monday Club Meeting

GIS Inmates
To Get Gifts

A tale of two cities was told by two speakers at the meeting of Monday Club held in Circleville Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Robert Young in her paper on Cincinnati said:

"Cincinnati is the second largest city in Ohio and is a commercial and manufacturing center. In 1947 it ranked 14th among metropolitan areas of the U. S. in the value of its manufacture and in its own state was surpassed by only Cleveland. In 1950 the city extended about 25 miles along the Ohio River front to a width of 15 miles.

"The river level is the site of the shipping business. It is called the Basin. The next level above the river bank contains warehouse facilities and above it, the downtown retail business district. Beyond and above the business districts are the residential sections — then, the many spacious and attractive suburbs such as Walnut Hills, Hyde Park, and Westwood.

"The city's products are as varied as its topography. Claiming that it has the highest per capita wealth for cities of its size. It turns out tools, bakery products, packaged groceries, text books, medicine, trade magazines, and shoes. It packs meat and in the production of soap, radios, televisions, processed food, playing cards and clothing, it ranks high in the Nation.

"Cincinnati is a city of 'firsts', for it had the first reinforced concrete skyscraper in the world; the first zoo; the first industrial exposition in America; first suspension bridge and pioneered the City Manager form of government."

Story of the other city, Cleveland, was told by Mrs. George H. Adkins, who said in part:

"The territory in which Cleveland is located, is part of a vast area of land once owned by the French. It was secured for England by British arms and diplomacy. King Charles II, followed the policy of granting tracts to companies for development. The Connecticut Colony received a grant extending westward to the Pacific. The territory was called "Western Reserve."

"The Connecticut Company determined to divide the land into small lots. In May 1796, Moses Cleveland, selected as their agent and general field superintendent, made a town plan, a central square from which the streets extended. Moses Cleveland was there but three months. He left under fire of criticism for expending $14,000 without completing his work.

"Many famous names, among them through the story of Cleveland. Their wealth came from ore and coal, and went largely to philanthropic and cultural projects. John D. Rockefeller grew up there, starting as a book-keeper. In 1865 he took over an oil refinery and three years later organized the Standard Oil Co. with a capital of $1,000,000."

Mrs. E. S. Shane, presided at the meeting and announced that the sale of articles made by the blind would be held at the next meeting, Nov. 19.

Members voted to send Christmas gifts to inmates in Girls Industrial School and will bring them, unwrapped, to the next meeting or to the meeting of Dec. 3.

It Was So Easy to Lose
30 Lbs. The Rennel Way

I Did It—So Can You—Rennel Is Wonderful

Mrs. Earl Blakley, 240 Wadsworth Ave., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, writes: "I have used Rennel and have found it to be an excellent product for taking off excess weight. I am 30 years old and when I started taking Rennel I weighed 160 lbs. Now I am down to 130 lbs. It was so easy to reduce the Rennel way."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Day-old bread is best for making sandwiches. But if you've bought a loaf of fresh bread, chill it in the refrigerator one or two hours before using. Rolled sandwiches, however call for very fresh bread to prevent breaking in rolling.

It Was So Easy to Lose 30 Lbs. The Rennel Way

I Did It—So Can You—Rennel is Wonderful

Mrs. Earl Blakley, 240 Wadsworth Ave., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, writes: "I have used Rennel and have found it to be an excellent product for taking off excess weight. I am 30 years old and when I started taking Rennel I weighed 160 lbs. Now I am down to 130 lbs. It was so easy to reduce the Rennel way."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle.

Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

Irish Of Notre Dame Out To Mar Unbeaten Spartan Club Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Time was when everybody was out to "spoil" Notre Dame. The football show is now on the other foot.

Frank Leahy's youthful club takes on a man-sized job Saturday when it tries to do in unbeaten Michigan State in one of the two top games in the nation.

One person who thinks the Irish can do it is Notre Dame Athletic Director Ed "Moose" Krause. The way Krause put it to New York football writers yesterday was: "We have a very good chance of pulling an upset."

In a departure from Leahy's usual laments about his team's chances, Krause spoke glowingly of the work being done by the Irish coach. He spoke of the week by week improvement shown by Leahy's squad, which features only 14 juniors and seniors.

NOTRE DAME has made the transformation from a passing to a running team that has gained 1440 yards on the ground and 608 through the air. But Krause hinted that the Spartans can expect both barrels on Saturday.

"We can throw, too," the athletic director said. "Johnny Mazur is no

Lujack or Bertelli, of course, but he can pass.

"It's just that we've got some fine runners like Bill Barrett, Neil Worden and Paul Reynolds and we've been running successfully against everyone."

Krause paid tribute to Michigan State as a great offensive team and said "we'll have to go out there and outscore them."

He insists this can be done and pointed out that Ohio State, Marquette, Penn State and Pittsburgh all scored two or more touchdowns against the Spartans.

The Irish have scored convincing wins over Indiana, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Purdue and Navy. The only blot on their record is a 27 to 0 defeat by Southern Methodist in a game in which Fred Beners passed them daffy.

Krause expects the main trouble from Michigan State to stem from Al Derow, the "T" passer, and Don McAluffe, who does his flipping from the single wing. Another Spartan Notre Dame will have to watch, according to Krause, is Bob Carey, an end rated by the Moose as one of the best in the land.

Whitney Colt Is Sidelined

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Counterpoint, a virtual shoo-in for horse of the year honors, will be sidelined for the rest of the 1951 racing season.

A slight quarter crack in the front left hoof has sent the three-year-old son of Count Fleet to the C. V. Whitney farm at Lexington to recuperate.

Counterpoint suffered the injury last Saturday in winning the $50,000 added Empire Handicap at Jamaica. The Colt retires for the year with his earnings at $251,225, the turf's highest.

Turpin Slated To Meet Winner

DETROIT, Nov. 6—Matchmaker Al Weil said in Detroit today that the winner of the Tony Janiro-Kid Gavilan fight will be signed to meet Randy Turpin, English welterweight and middleweight champion.

Gavilan, world's welterweight title holder, and Janiro meet in a 10-round, non-title bout at Detroit's Olympia Wednesday night.

Weil said the winner will fight Turpin late in January of the early part of February in either Detroit or New York.

Ex-OSU Leader Gets Top Position

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—Dr. Robert M. Salter, former professor of soils at Ohio State university, has been named chief of the Soil Conservation Service in Washington. His appointment is effective Nov. 15.

Dr. Salter has been chief of the bureau of plant industry, soils and agricultural engineering in Washington since 1942. Previously he served 19 years on the staff at Ohio State and the Ohio agricultural experiment station at Wooster.

Liming Hikes Hay Yields By 1000 Pct.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 6—Spreading limestone increased alfalfa hay yields more than ten times in tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, an extension agronomist at Ohio State university said today.

Earl Jones said alfalfa yielded an average of 512 pounds per acre per year on unlimed land during an eight-year test. During the same test, land that was limed to neutrality produced 5,518 pounds of hay per acre. The rotation in which the alfalfa was included was corn-small grain-hay.

Taking yields on land limed to neutrality as 100 percent, crop yields on unlimed land were as follows: Oats, 90 percent; wheat, 75 percent; soybeans for hay, 75 percent; corn, 73 percent; red clover, 21 percent; barley, 23 percent, and timothy, 40 percent.

Jones pointed out that sod crops on limed land helped other crops in the rotation. Some of the increase credited to liming actually was due to this benefit from better sod crops.

Sokolosky's These Days

"Mr. Morris. What was the nature of the embargo, Admiral Cooke?"

"Mr. Cooke. The United States would supply no combat equipment of any kind, including ammunition, and they wouldn't allow the Chinese to buy any in the United States. Eventually I think they bought some spare parts and maybe some transport planes, no combat planes, but transport planes like C-47s and C-46s."

"Mr. Morris. Will you tell us when this embargo went into effect?"

"Mr. Cooke. I can't tell you exactly, but it was about the 1st of August, 1946."

"Mr. Morris. How long did that stay in force?"

"Mr. Cooke. Until the following May."

"Mr. Morris. May, 1947?"

"Mr. Cooke. Yes."

"Mr. Morris. During the time that that was in force was the Chinese government able to buy any equipment in the United States?"

"Mr. Cooke. Not so far as I know. I am fairly sure not."

Supplementary arrangements were made to permit the Chinese Nationalists to take obsolescent munitions which the Marines had dumped in Tsingtao. The only objection to aiding the Nationalists in this way came from John Carter Vincent. Here is the record:

"Senator Ferguson. What did (Vincent) say?"

"Mr. Cooke. He just said we ought to figure out a way to destroy it (the munitions)."

"Senator Ferguson. And not give it to the Nationalists?"

"Mr. Cooke. That is right. Actually we designated a place there where we were going to take it, and we told them we were going to put it there. We didn't tell them we were going to give it to them, but we were putting it in this place, and they did come and get it, and of course they did use it."

"Senator Ferguson. Did Mr. Vincent assign any reason for not giving it to the Chinese Nationalists in the way you proposed?"

"Mr. Cooke. He just indicated it was undesirable to do so."

Irish Of Notre Dame Out To Mar Unbeaten Spartan Club Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Time was when everybody was out to "spoil" Notre Dame. The football show is now on the other foot.

Frank Leahy's youthful club takes on a man-sized job Saturday when it tries to do in unbeaten Michigan State in one of the two top games in the nation.

One person who thinks the Irish can do it is Notre Dame Athletic Director Ed "Moore" Krause. The way Krause put it to New York football writers yesterday was: "We have a very good chance of pulling an upset."

In a departure from Leahy's usual laments about his team's chances, Krause spoke glowingly of the work being done by the Irish coach. He spoke of the week by week improvement shown by Leahy's squad, which features only 14 juniors and seniors.

NOTRE DAME has made the transformation from a passing to a running team that has gained 1440 yards on the ground and 608 through the air. But Krause hinted that the Spartans can expect both barrels on Saturday.

"We can throw, too," the athletic director said. "Johnny Mazur is no

Lujack or Bertelli, of course, but he can pass.

"It's just that we've got some fine runners like Bill Barrett, Neil Worden and Paul Reynolds and we've been running successfully against everyone."

Krause paid tribute to Michigan State as a great offensive team and said "we'll have to go out there and outscore them."

He insists this can be done and pointed out that Ohio State, Marquette, Penn State and Pittsburgh all scored two or more touchdowns against the Spartans.

The Irish have scored convincing wins over Indiana, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Purdue and Navy. The only blot on their record is a 27 to 0 defeat by Southern Methodist in a game in which Fred Benner passed them daffy.

Krause expects the main trouble from Michigan State to stem from Al Derow, the "T" passer, and Don McAuliffe, who does his flipping from the single wing. Another Spartan Notre Dame will have to watch, according to Krause, is Bob Carey, an end rated by the Moose as one of the best in the land.

Whitney Colt Is Sidelined

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Counterpoint, a virtuosic show in horse of the year honors, will be sidelined for the rest of the 1951 racing season.

A slight quarter crack in the front left hoof has sent the three-year-old son of Count Fleet to the C. V. Whitney farm at Lexington to recuperate.

Countpoint suffered the injury last Saturday in winning the $50,000 added Empire Handicap at Jamaica. The Colt retires for the year with his earnings at $251,225, the turf's highest.

Turpin Slated To Meet Winner

DETROIT, Nov. 6—Matchmaker Al Weill said in Detroit today that the winner of the Tony Janiro-Kid Gavilan fight will be signed to meet Randy Turpin, English welterweight and middleweight champion.

Gavilan, world's welterweight title holder, and Janiro meet in a 10-round, non-title bout at Detroit's Olympia Wednesday night.

Weill said the winner will fight Turpin late in January of the early part of February in either Detroit or New York.

"Mr. Morris. What was the nature of the embargo, Admiral Cooke?"

"Mr. Cooke. The United States would supply no combat equipment of any kind, including ammunition, and they wouldn't allow the Chinese to buy any in the United States. Eventually I think they bought some spare parts and maybe some transport planes, no combat planes but transport planes like C-47s and C-48s."

"Mr. Morris. Will you tell us when this embargo went into effect?"

"Mr. Cooke. I can't tell you exactly, but it was about the 1st of August, 1946."

"Mr. Cooke. Until the following May."

Senator Ferguson. What did (Vincent) say?

"Mr. Cooke. He just said we ought to figure out a way to destroy it (the munitions)."

"Senator Ferguson. And not give it to the Nationalists?"

"Mr. Cooke. That is right. Actually we designated a place there where we were going to take it, and we told them we were going to put it there. We didn't tell them we were going to give it to them, but we were putting it in this place, and they did come and get it, and of course they did use it."

"Senator Ferguson. Did Mr. Vincent assign any reason for not giving it to the Chinese Nationalists in the way you proposed?"

"Mr. Cooke. He just indicated it was undesirable to do so."

U. S. Must Build Civilian Defense

By MILLARD CALDWELL
U. S. Civil Defense Director

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles on civilian defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

The most important reason for anyone to volunteer for Civil Defense work now is that his or her life may depend on it. From that point you can add more names to the list which may be dependent on you in some hour of crisis: your own family, your relatives, your neighbors, and other friends in your community.

The protection of your own home, industrial property and war plants, public buildings, the place where you earn a living, your municipal facilities, your transportation system, farm lands, cattle, forests, harbors—everything which has to do with your life today, multiply the reasons why you should volunteer for civil defense work NOW.

Every good American will want to volunteer for civil defense. He knows it is his duty to do so, for there is no other way to recruit the millions of workers who will be needed to defeat an enemy on the home front.

If we are attacked—and remember that we can be attacked—the hard, terrible task of getting our cities and industries back on their feet will fall mainly on civil defense volunteers. It is not a job for those who can't face facts or aren't willing to work. It is a job for real Americans with courage.

No one can do the civil defense job but the American people themselves. The Armed Forces have their own job to do. There are not enough people in Federal, State, or local government agencies to do the job for you. It is one of those things you will have to do yourself. And you will have to be prepared for any emergency. There will be no time to take a civil defense training course, or read booklets, when the bombs fall. All that must be done before if you want to better your chance for survival.

One local civil defense organization has adopted the slogan "Service Means Survival."

IT IS A GOOD slogan to remember. It sums up the meaning of civil defense. An efficient, tough, determined civil defense program can mean survival for the American people.

It's easy to find out where to volunteer for civil defense work, and the services you are qualified to perform. Visit or telephone your local civil defense headquarters, or watch for announcements from your local civil defense director. Your newspapers, radio or television stations will give you information.

Your Red Cross chapter is ready to train you in first aid right now. This training is required of all civil defense volunteers. If you are not able to volunteer, you should take the latest Red Cross first aid course anyway. It is wise for you to know first aid no matter what may happen.

The Red Cross gives courses in home nursing and nurses' aide also. It is wise to have some knowledge of these courses too. Then you might be able to save a life in your family some day, war or no war. You can help by being a Red Cross blood donor. Thousands of pints of blood would be needed after an enemy attack.

There are ten major volunteer services in your civil defense. All are vital and will be discussed in the next three articles. Read them and decide where you fit in.

Same High Quality—Same Low Price

This is a reminder about two things in regard to the use of natural gas for house-heating:

1—Under emergency Orders of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio there are restrictions on the use of new or additional furnaces, conversion burners, circulating heaters, unit heaters, or other gas-fired space heating equipment to be connected to The Ohio Fuel Gas Company lines.

2—Under the Public Utilities Commission Orders, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is required to shut off the entire supply of natural gas to any consumer who fails to disconnect space heating equipment being used in violation of the Orders.

RESTRICTIONS ARE TO PROTECT OUR PRESENT CUSTOMERS

This winter, the expected demands for natural gas here will exceed the available supply. Under such circumstances it is obvious that service to all customers would be endangered if we attempted to spread out the limited supply among more and more people who desire gas for heating.

To protect the service of our present customers, we were among those who asked the Public Utilities Commission for Orders under which we would not approve additional space heating installations at the present time.

NO APPROVALS GRANTED ON NOTICES OF INTENT FILED AFTER LAST MAY 17

The Orders of the Public Utilities Commission, now in effect, provide, among other things:

1—That no natural gas company shall be required to supply gas for additional space heating equipment, or for space heating equipment using gas in replacement of other fuels, unless the consumer notifies the company in writing of his intention and receives approval from the company.

2—That The Ohio Fuel Gas Company shall not approve any Notices of Intent filed with the company after May 17, 1951.

3—That if a consumer uses gas-fired space heating equipment not eligible for service under the Orders, the company is required to direct the consumer in writing to disconnect the equipment and discontinue its use. If the consumer fails to do so within ten days, the company is required to discontinue the entire supply of natural gas to the consumer until the equipment has been disconnected.

In its Orders, the Public Utilities Commission noted that the present emergency has resulted from "the continuing unprecedented demand for gas and the inability of the utilities and their suppliers to provide facilities to make additional gas available to consumers in the State of Ohio, both accentuated by conditions resulting from the Korean War and the present national defense effort."

WHAT OHIO FUEL IS DOING TO MEET THE DEMANDS

If you are waiting to get gas for space heating, a look at what has happened and what we are doing should be encouraging.

In the past five years Ohio Fuel has acquired substantial additional gas supplies and has spent $78,500,000 for pipelines and other facilities to handle and deliver this gas. As a result:

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY HAS INCREASED ITS ANNUAL GAS DELIVERIES BY 60 PER CENT. This is an annual increase equal to all of the gas delivered last year to the entire cities of Columbus, Toledo, Springfield, Athens, Mansfield, Zanesville, Fremont, and Elyria.

OHIO FUEL IS FURNISHING GAS TO 60,000 MORE OHIO HOMES. In numbers that is as many customers as Ohio Fuel now serves altogether in Newark, Marion, Elyria, Fremont, Sandusky, Zanesville, and Lorain.

THE COMPANY IS PROVIDING GAS FOR HEATING IN 5 TIMES AS MANY HOMES. The number of homes enjoying gas heat was multiplied five times, increasing from 50,000 to 266,000. The homes of more than half of Ohio Fuel customers are heated with gas.

We are continuing to provide still additional facilities and to procure gas from any possible source, to the end that this record of service may be extended and improved.

NOTICES WILL BE RECORDED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED

Ohio Fuel is continuing to receive "Notices of Intent" from people who want to install gas space heating equipment. These notices are being recorded, and when it is possible to modify existing restrictions they will be considered in the order in which they were received.

ONLY USE OF GAS FOR SPACE HEATING IS RESTRICTED

The restrictions apply only to new or additional space heating equipment. There are no restrictions on connecting or using gas ranges, refrigerators, water heaters, laundry dryers, incinerators, and other such base-load appliances.

A REMINDER THAT ALL OF US MUST COMPLY WITH THE ORDERS

Most persons are aware of the restrictions and the reasons for them. This is another reminder that the Public Utilities Commission Orders are for the protection of our 520,000 customers. It is also a reminder that Ohio Fuel must comply with the Orders—even to discontinuing all service to any home or other building in which space heating equipment is being used in violation of Public Utilities Commission Orders.

We will continue every effort to get more gas. For the time being we sincerely ask for your understanding and cooperation.

U. S. Must Build Civilian Defense

By MILLARD CALDWELL
U. S. Civil Defense Director

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration.)

The most important reason for anyone to volunteer for Civil Defense work now is that his or her life may depend on it. From that point you can add more names to the list which may be dependent on you in some hour of crisis: your own family, your relatives, your neighbors, and other friends in your community.

The protection of your own home, industrial property and war plants, public buildings, the place where you earn a living, your municipal facilities, your transportation system, farm lands, cattle, forests, harbors—everything which has to do with your life today, multiply the reasons why you should volunteer for civil defense work NOW.

Every good American will want to volunteer for civil defense. He knows it is his duty to do so, for there is no other way to recruit the millions of workers who will be needed to defeat an enemy on the home front.

If we are attacked—and remember that we can be attacked—the hard, terrible task of getting our cities and industries back on their feet will fall mainly on civil defense volunteers. It is not a job for those who can't face facts or aren't willing to work. It is a job for real Americans with courage.

No one can do the civil defense job but the American people themselves. The Armed Forces have their own job to do. There are not enough people in Federal, State, or local government agencies to do the job for you. It is one of those things you will have to do yourself. And you will have to be prepared for any emergency. There will be no time to take a civil defense training course, or read booklets, when the bombs fall. All that must be done before if you want to better your chance for survival.

One local civil defense organization has adopted the slogan "Service Means Survival."

IT IS A GOOD slogan to remember. It sums up the meaning of civil defense. An efficient, tough, determined civil defense program can mean survival for the American people.

It's easy to find out where to volunteer for civil defense work, and the services you are qualified to perform. Visit or telephone your local civil defense headquarters, or watch for announcements from your local civil defense director. Your newspapers, radio or television stations will give you information.

Your Red Cross chapter is ready to train you in first aid right now. This training is required of all civil defense volunteers. If you are not able to volunteer, you should take the latest Red Cross first aid course anyway. It is wise for you to know first aid no matter what may happen.

home nursing and nurses' aide also. It is wise to have some knowledge of these courses too. Then you might be able to save a life in your family some day, war or no war.

You can help by being a Red Cross blood donor. Thousands of pints of blood would be needed after an enemy attack.

There are ten major volunteer services in your civil defense. All are vital and will be discussed in the next three articles. Read them and decide where you fit in.

This is a reminder about two things in regard to the use of natural gas for house-heating:

1—Under emergency Orders of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio there are restrictions on the use of new or additional furnaces, conversion burners, circulating heaters, unit heaters, or other gas-fired space heating equipment to be connected to The Ohio Fuel Gas Company lines.

2—Under the Public Utilities Commission Orders, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is required to shut off the entire supply of natural gas to any consumer who fails to disconnect space heating equipment being used in violation of the Orders.

RESTRICTIONS ARE TO PROTECT OUR PRESENT CUSTOMERS

This winter, the expected demands for natural gas here will exceed the available supply. Under such circumstances it is obvious that service to all customers would be endangered if we attempted to spread out the limited supply among more and more people who desire gas for heating.

To protect the service of our present customers, we were among those who asked the Public Utilities Commission for Orders under which we would not approve additional space heating installations at the present time.

NO APPROVALS GRANTED ON NOTICES OF INTENT FILED AFTER LAST MAY 17

The Orders of the Public Utilities Commission, now in effect, provide, among other things:

1—That no natural gas company shall be required to supply gas for additional space heating equipment, or for space heating equipment using gas in replacement of other fuels, unless the consumer notifies the company in writing of his intention and receives approval from the company.

2—That The Ohio Fuel Gas Company shall not approve any Notices of Intent filed with the company after May 17, 1951.

3—That if a consumer uses gas-fired space heating equipment not eligible for service under the Orders, the company is required to direct the consumer in writing to disconnect the equipment and discontinue its use. If the consumer fails to do so within ten days, the company is required to discontinue the entire supply of natural gas to the consumer until the equipment has been disconnected.

In its Orders, the Public Utilities Commission noted that the present emergency has resulted from "the continuing unprecedented demand for gas and the inability of the utilities and their suppliers to provide facilities to make additional gas available to consumers in the State of Ohio, both accentuated by conditions resulting from the Korean War and the present national defense effort."

WHAT OHIO FUEL IS DOING TO MEET THE DEMANDS

If you are waiting to get gas for space heating, a look at what has happened and what we are doing should be encouraging.

In the past five years Ohio Fuel has acquired substantial additional gas supplies and has spent $78,500,000 for pipelines and other facilities to handle and deliver this gas. As a result:

THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY HAS INCREASED ITS ANNUAL GAS DELIVERIES BY 60 PER CENT. This is an annual increase equal to all of the gas delivered last year to the entire cities of Columbus, Toledo, Springfield, Athens, Mansfield, Zanesville, Fremont, and Elyria.

OHIO FUEL IS FURNISHING GAS TO 60,000 MORE OHIO HOMES. In numbers that is as many customers as Ohio Fuel now serves altogether in Newark, Marion, Elyria, Fremont, Sandusky, Zanesville, and Lorain.

THE COMPANY IS PROVIDING GAS FOR HEATING IN 5 TIMES AS MANY HOMES. The number of homes enjoying gas heat was multiplied five times, increasing from 50,000 to 266,000. The homes of more than half of Ohio Fuel customers are heated with gas.

We are continuing to provide still additional facilities and to procure gas from any possible source, to the end that this record of service may be extended and improved.

NOTICES WILL BE RECORDED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED

Ohio Fuel is continuing to receive "Notices of Intent" from people who want to install gas space heating equipment. These notices are being recorded, and when it is possible to modify existing restrictions they will be considered in the order in which they were received.

ONLY USE OF GAS FOR SPACE HEATING IS RESTRICTED

The restrictions apply only to new or additional space heating equipment. There are no restrictions on connecting or using gas ranges, refrigerators, water heaters, laundry dryers, incinerators, and other such base-load appliances.
